A message for parents and educators

The future belongs to the young, and one of the world's future geniuses could be living with you right now! But to achieve their full potential, children need to be encouraged and inspired. They need to be cultivated, like a garden that explodes into life when it gets what it needs. This book is about encouraging children to see what their future could be like, and to inspire them to respect and care for the earth while their minds are still open and receptive.

– Roland Gahler
